Adverse Report On Bonus Bill Ordered By Committee

DOUBTFUL IF PRICES ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET TAKE UPWARD TURN
CONGRESS TO TAKE ACTION

Committee Vote is Announced as 15 to 10—
Blow to Bonus Advocates

ALL BILLS AFFECTED

Rep. Patman, Author, Declares Vote by Petition Impossible Before June

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(UP)—The $2,000,000,000 Patman soldiers' bonus bill and all other bills dealing with cash payment of veterans' adjusted service certificates were ordered adversely reported by the house ways and means committee today.

The vote was announced at 15 to 10.

The action was a severe blow to bonus advocates and left seriously in doubt the possibility of congress taking action on such legislation during this session.

Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas, said that the house parliamentarian had informed him that an effort to get a vote in the house by petition could not possibly succeed until June 13.

The intention of advocates of the bonus, however, is immediately to seek the names of 145 members of the house for a petition. Representative Crisp, Democrat, Georgia, acting chairman of the committee, said he believed that under the rules some quicker action might be possible.

Representative Rainey, Democrat, Illinois, majority floor leader, will file the committee's report probably tomorrow.

The roll call of the committee was not given out.

The adverse report was made possible it was learned, however, by five Democratic members of the committee voting with the 10 Republicans.

Representative Bagon said he voted in favor of the Patman bonus bill when the committee acted on that measure alone, but when this proposal was defeated 11 to 14, he decided to side with the majority.

U.S. STEEL SLASHES PAYROLL 15 PERCENT

NEW YORK, May 6.—(UP)—The United States Steel Corporation today ordered a 15 per cent wage and salary cut in all departments in various important steel districts of the country.

The following statement was issued by the company:

"Effective May 15, the United States Steel Corporation and subsidiary companies will reduce by approximately 15 per cent all wage and salary rates at all departments in the most important steel districts and in other locations to rates reflecting equitable differentials."

GASTON MEANS FAILS TO POST $100,000 BOND

Story of Alleged Theft of Huge Sum in Lindbergh Case Before Jury

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 6.—(UP)—The United States grand jury heard from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean today the story of how she charges Gaston B. Means defrauded her of $100,000 on representation that he could obtain the return of the missing Lindbergh baby.

The jury deferred action on an indictment until Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(UP)—The story of how Gaston B. Means allegedly obtained $100,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean as ransom for the Lindbergh baby was ordered laid before the grand jury today.

Leo Rose, United States attorney for the District of Columbia, arranged to convene the grand jury today to hear the case.

Mrs. McLean, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the department of justice bureau of investigation, and the butler from the McLean household were summoned as witnesses.

Mrs. McLean is expected to tell how she, perhaps remembering the tragedy of the death of her own son, Vinson, who was killed accidentally while being guarded from possible kidnapers, engaged Means to take up the hunt for the Lindbergh child. Means, according to the charges against him, told her he had contact with the kidnapers and obtained $100,000 from her with which to pay the ransom.

When the child was not forthcoming Means allegedly told Mrs. McLean that he had given the money to a man who stopped him on the highway and whispered to

GLENDALE PASTOR IS UNDER ARREST

GLENDALE, Calif., May 6.—(UP)—The Rev. E. E. Wall, 56, Glendale pastor and former assistant to the Rev. R. P. (Fighting Bob) Shuler, candidate for the United States senate, will be arraigned in police court Monday on charges of feloniously mistreating a 10 year old girl, it became known today.

It was disclosed that the pastor was accused in a complaint brought by Miss Ethel N. Bosler, Glendale, on behalf of her 10 year old niece. Rev. Wall was arrested on a warrant issued by Police Judge R. H. Lowe and released on $2000 bail.

The attacks are alleged to have occurred in the study of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Glendale, of which Wall is pastor, and were said to have occurred over a period of three months.

WILL ROGERS PAYS FINE AS SPEEDER

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May 6.—(UP)—Will Rogers, cowboy actor and writer, was busy before the microphone and cameras today, so a representative appeared in justice court here and paid a $5 speeding fine for the humorist.

Judge H. E. (Josh) Billings, disappointed that he was not permitted the opportunity to greet the first citizen of this town in person, tempered justice with mercy and suspended the fine.

Rogers was charged with driving 44 miles an hour in a 20-mile

Tries Suicide And Lands In County Jail

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—(UP)—Instead of a suicide today, H. M. Hellyer, 50, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon after his plans for death set a house afire and injured two other men. After several hours in jail he was released on $500 bail.

Hellyer escaped unscathed in a gas explosion which shook his rooming house.

Leo Elliott, 31, walked into Hellyer's darkened room with a friend and saw the would-be suicide lying on the floor. As Elliott struck a match the gas exploded and set fire to the house. Elliott and his friend suffered serious burns but Hellyer ran from the house uninjured and later was arrested.

TAX BILL GOES BEFORE SENATE NEXT TUESDAY

Finance Committee Approves Treasury Department Compromise

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(UP)—The senate finance committee today approved a treasury department compromised tax bill to raise $1,004,000,000 of revenue.

The committee adjourned until Monday.

Chairman Smooth said the tax bill would be reported to the senate not later than Tuesday.

The compromise program, excluding a variety of sales taxes, increases the automobile, truck and accessories taxes, and adding rubber to the tariff, was voted after Secretary of Treasury Miller appealed to the committee to "eliminate atrocities" from the bill.

High income and surtax rates voted by the committee yesterday were abandoned today in favor of the following schedule:

Three per cent of the first $4000 of taxable income.

Six per cent of the next $4000.

The program includes an import tax of five cents a pound on rubber.

Maximum income taxes were reduced from the 65 per cent proposed in the Connally amendment yesterday to a maximum of 45 per cent on incomes more than $10,000.

Tires were eliminated from the automobile accessories tax. The sales tax on automobiles, trucks

YACHT EXPECTED TO MAKE NEW TRIP

NORFOLK, Va., May 6.—(UP)—Two weeks of cruises in search of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., were completed today by the yacht Marcon, and the yacht was scheduled to leave the submarine base again today for its seventh trip.

The idea behind the cruises is that a group represented to be the kidnapers will meet the Marcon at sea and hand over the child.

So far the "kidnapers" have not appeared. Associates of John Hughes Crutis, chief negotiator with the "kidnapers" group, were less confident today. For a week now, they have been saying each time that the baby probably would return with the yacht next time.

An associate of Curtis reiterated today a denial that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh ever has been aboard the Marcon. It has been suggested Lindbergh might have visited the yacht while it was moored.

Rogers was charged with driving 44 miles an hour in a 20-mile

FULL PARDONS FOR HONOLULU SLAYERS SURE

Believed Governor Judd to Remove Last Stigma in Decision Saturday

HONOLULU, May 6.—(UP)—Pardons for the convicted American honor slayers appeared certain today when threat of an unofficial $27,000,000 boycott added public pressure to a "behind the scenes" fight waged by Clarence Darrow.

A decision on the pardons tomorrow was promised by Governor Lawrence M. Judd, whose action in commuting the prisoners' 10-year terms to one hour brought condemnation from white and native elements alike.

Darrow, 75-year-old counsel for the defense, was buoyant when he emerged from his latest private conference with the governor and announced he intended "to have everything cleared up by Saturday."

Printed instructions to naval families to buy as many as possible of their supplies from the navy commissary were distributed from an unidentified source. But the plan had an almost immediate effect. The navy spends some $27,000,000 here annually, and merchants soon were complaining to the governor.

The governor has been harassed by increasing demands for the pardons since his sudden decision to free the defendants without serving time but with the conviction depriving them of civil rights.

The unofficial commercial boycott by navy men and their families here was accompanied by revelations of a bitter dispute between Darrow and Judd over the bill.

This transaction, together with former prices for gasoline and reports of progress in negotiations for a merger between Standards of New Jersey and California helped

FAURNUM CITED ON CONTEMPT CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—(UP)—William Farnum, movie star, today was cited for contempt of court on charges he was $4300 in arrears in alimony payments to wife Ann Farnum, who obtained an interlocutory decree and an award of $100 weekly last May.

Farnum returned to San Francisco Thursday from the South Sea Islands, where he was a member of the Douglas Fairbanks company engaged in filming a picture.

The order served on him cited him to appear in superior court next Friday to explain the alleged delinquency.

Mrs. Farnum was said to be in New York. The citation was served by her local attorneys.

ONE IS KILLED AND ONE HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Buena Park Resident Loses Life in Head-on Collision With Jap

ONE MAN was dead and another in a critical condition today as the result of head-on collision and the driving of a "hit and run" motorist in Orange county last night.

F. C. Smith, 55, resident of Buena Park, and for the last 15 years an employee of the Coyote Lease for the Standard Oil company, died enroute to a Fullerton hospital at 8 o'clock last night, after his car had collided with another machine and then overturned near Northam Station, crushing him in the wreckage.

According to reports of the accident received here, Smith suddenly drove his car from the right side of the road to the left, meeting two cars. The first, occupied by three girls, speeded up and avoided a collision, but the second, driven by Richard Tom, a Japanese of Buena Park, could not and was struck head-on. The impact sent the Smith car tumbling over and over into a ditch.

No one in the Tom car was injured.

The body of Smith was removed to the Seal's undertaking parlors at Fullerton, where Coroner Earl Abbey announced today he would hold an inquest either tomorrow morning or Monday.

Smith is survived by a widow and two children, both of whom reside in Buena Park.

One of two cars, racing north on Huntington Beach boulevard at 7 o'clock last night, is believed to have moved down William Christensen, 20, of 243 Olive street, Los Angeles, as he was walking along the road and then speeded off without stopping to render aid, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office.

At any rate the man was found lying in the road a few minutes later by other motorists, V. B. Calk, Jr., of 524 Ruskin street, Whittier, and Roy Ledbetter, of Balboa. The sheriff's office was called and the man was removed to the Orange county hospital where it was said his condition was critical.

Although unconscious, Christensen is suffering from a fracture of the skull, his right arm is broken and his left leg paralyzed from the shock, it was reported.

Efforts were being made by the sheriff's office to learn the identity of the drivers of the two cars reported racing just before Christensen was found. The makes of the cars and parts of the license numbers have been obtained, it was declared.

Christensen is one of the unemployed and was walking from Los Angeles to Balboa seeking work, he declared.

The evacuation was believed to cover a large part of the Shanghai area although it was impossible to estimate exactly pending an official Japanese announcement.

Travelers from Nanking, alone in the center of the 20-mile line alone which Chinese and Japanese armies fought, reported the Japanese withdrawal started at that place a few hours after the peace agreement was signed.

SHANGHAI, May 6.—(UP)—Withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Shanghai area started today after the signing of an agreement ending hostilities between China and Japan.

The evacuation was believed to cover a large part of the Shanghai area although it was impossible to estimate exactly pending an official Japanese announcement.

Travelers from Nanking, alone in the center of the 20-mile line alone which Chinese and Japanese armies fought, reported the Japanese withdrawal started at that place a few hours after the peace agreement was signed.

NEW YORK, May 6.—(UP)—The advisability of dynamiting the bázhu million dollar Cunard line pier No. 54 was considered by fire department officials this afternoon after more than 50 pieces of land fire apparatus and five fire boats had failed to halt progress of fire which broke out early this morning. More than 75 men were overcome by smoke.

ed the oil group generally. That section of the market was the best in the afternoon until the steel wage cut set off short covering throughout the list.

Gains throughout the list were retained in the majority although volume of turnover was reduced just before the close. Bonds were more active and prices firming up along with the advances in the share market. United States government issues rallied after an early reaction.

Grains joined the advance and wheat closed up 1 to 1-5¢ a bushel. Cotton advanced several points.

According to preliminary calculation, the Dow, Jones and company industrial average stood at 59.41, up 4.91 points; railroad average at 21.35, up 1.27, and the utility average 25.11, up 1.42.

Sales totaled 1,000,000 shares, compared with 1,000,000 shares Thursday.

CHARGES AGAINST BUREAU REFUTED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 6. (UPI)—Charges voiced against the state bureau of commerce by members of the Windsor chapter of the Sonoma County Grange were denied today by Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, who came to the defense of the bureau.

A. E. Williams, spokesman for the Windsor group, charged that the state is permitting a monopoly on dried fruit exports to exist through failure to certify for shipment crops of independent growers and through inability to develop foreign markets.

BIND MAN OVER ON GRAND THEFT COUNT

Joseph Irving, Long Beach man, charged with grand theft, was held to answer to the superior court from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon, in ball of $1000 which he had placed soon after his arrest several weeks ago.

He is accused of stealing $2700 derived through the sale of several notes, the alleged property of Olive

M. Shepard, of Los Angeles. According to the sheriff's office, the notes were sold in Orange county, which gives this county jurisdiction to try the case.

The case has been in progress

here for two days.

and accessories was fixed at four per cent, two per cent and one per cent, respectively, to raise $75,000,000.

There was no change from committee amendments in the brewers' wort sales tax calculated to raise $97,000,000.

Lubricating oil was increased from two to four cents per gallon to yield $35,000,000.

Gift and estate taxes were unchanged, but Mills explained the treasury refused to recognize them as sources of emergency revenue and would not endorse the high estate taxes.

Mills estimated the bill now drafted would produce $1,025,000,000 of revenue and when asked if that sum would balance the budget, he replied:

"That depends on how much we reduce expenditures, and an economy hurricane is about to hit this town."

At 4:40 p. m. (11:40 a. m. E.D.T.) Professor Gauasset said:

"The ball in the head did not touch the brain, therefore I refuse to say the president is lost."

The blood used in the transfusion was donated by a young French intern at the hospital.

The ceremony at which the shooting occurred, part of "Book Week," was called "Apres-Midi Du Livre des Anciens Com' Attants" or "Book afternoon for the Benefit of War Veterans."

Walter E. Edge, United States ambassador, hurried to the Elysee palace from the embassy after the shooting and sent an urgent cable to the state department. He also radioed Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson aboard the liner Vulcan.

When Doumer recovered consciousness temporarily after the shooting he had lost memory of what happened. He was told he had been hurt in an automobile accident.

A book found in the assassin's pocket was inscribed "This book belongs to the president of the Russian Fascists, assassin of the president of the republic." Police, however, believed it was the deed of an insane man rather than a political act.

Madame Doumer reached the hospital late this afternoon. It was planned to take the president to the palace when the surgeons finished their work.

The only previous assassination of a French president was that of Sadi Carnot in June, 1894.

If Doumer dies, it will be necessary as soon as possible to call a national assembly at Versailles, composed of the chamber and senate, to elect a new president, since France has no vice president. The most likely candidates are Theodore Steeg, favorite of the left cartels; Albert Lebrun, president of the senate; and Fernand Buisson, president of the chamber of socialists.

"Y' GOTTA' LOVE MY DOG!"

When Betty Robinson went to the dog show at the Crystal Palace, London, to choose a pet, this was the one she selected. And it must have been love at first sight, because the huge St. Bernard, for whom Betty might have been just a couple of good mouthfuls, allowed her to lead him about. When this picture was taken the big fellow was warning the cameraman that the big black box had better not threaten any harm to his newly-adopted mistress.

she was endeavoring to obtain the return of Col. Lindbergh's baby and that the intermediary engaged by her had brought a message from the alleged kidnapers demanding that a Catholic priest be brought into the case for their protection. This appeared to me reasonable and I agreed willingly to associate myself with Mrs. McLean in her laudable effort to secure the return of the infant.

"She told me that the intermediary was Gaston Means. I knew in a general way of the unfavorable light in which he had appeared in the public prints but I felt that perhaps in this instance he was acting in earnest, a feeling which was strengthened when he told me that if he could accomplish the return of the baby it would mean the wiping out largely of his past and that he could begin life anew with a very favorable prospect of succeeding in business as an investigator.

"All through this case, I worked with Mrs. McLean and Capt. Land of the navy department. I am very sorry at the unhappy conclusion of the affair but I have no regret that I aided to the best of my ability Mrs. McLean in her very worthy endeavor to restore the child to its grieving mother."

Dorothy P. Sullivan, who claims to be a foster daughter of the late labor leader Samuel Gompers and first came to Orange county for the purpose of organizing a Garner-For-President Club was granted probation today for a period of three years on a charge of issuing worthless checks.

As a term of her probation Mrs.

Sullivan must spend six months in the county jail. She claimed, through her attorney D. G. Wetlin, that she is ill health and Superior

Judge James L. Allen said that if she is ill he will issue an order transferring her to the county hospit.

Mrs. Sullivan admitted issuing checks without sufficient funds to cover them but said that she believed that she would receive money in time to take them up when they were presented. In some cases, she declared, she informed the people to whom she gave the checks that the money was not then in the bank.

In granting probation Judge Allen said that he considered her story

"very thin" and pointed to the significance of the fact that while

Mrs. Sullivan claimed she came to Orange county to work for the Tex-

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

As you writhe in the abyss of suffering, you feel that you have never known the intensity with which to climb to the heights of hope, from which you might look on to an happy ending to the woes which now oppress you; despair paralyzes your least endeavor.

Every soul, the greatest and the weakest, who has known sorrow, has had this same experience.

But you are to find, as others have, that nothing is too great to expect from God, when you put your trust in Him. You may proceed by painful steps and slow, but you will make progress, as the days go by. Ere long you will realize that you have become strong amid your trials, and your confidence in what God will enable you to do will triumph over every doubt and fear.

DROP PLANS FOR 40 CENT CUT IN RATE

Making an about-face on its announced intention of cutting 40 cents from the Santa Ana school tax rate for the coming year, the school board continued its consideration of the proposed budget at its session last night, and, based on a report of the prospects of next year submitted by Dr. Percy R. Davis, superintendent, and Everett Boynton, director of the budget, set the reduction figure at 10 cents. This cut is to come from the elementary district fund.

The report on which the board based its discussion last night, estimated that there would be a probable 20 per cent tax delinquency for 1932-33, and it was held that in order to meet this probable decrease in revenue, the cut of 40 cents which had previously been announced, should be abandoned.

In the light of this report, which said that the estimate of delinquency was based on a study of past records, the financial problem of the city school system has been completely changed, and according to Dr. Davis it will be necessary for approximately $175,000 to be cut from the proposed budget. With the reductions previously made by consolidation of some departments and elimination of a number of positions and cuts in salaries, the board is faced with the necessity of reducing proposed expenditures for next year by $16,000.

May Drop Adult Work

Of the reductions that are being made, the sum of $21,225 is accounted for by leaves of absence, resignations and releases of 14 teachers in the elementary schools, Dr. Davis said.

Incisions last night were that the balance of $16,000 which remains to be lopped from the proposed budget would be saved through elimination of the adult education department next year. Definite action, however, was delayed for one week in an effort to find sufficient funds with which to continue part of the work done with the Mexican population.

Elimination of the adult education program will not necessarily do away with night school classes entirely. The indication is that certain commercial and shop courses will be continued on a tuition basis.

W. M. Burke, member of the board, made a motion to eliminate all adult education classes with the exception of those to go on tuition basis. This was later changed to motion to delay action for one week, pending compilation of figures as to cost of continuing the program among the Mexicans.

The changed financial status was caused, according to Davis, by the cut in assessed values, the increased anticipated delinquency for this year making it necessary to approximately double the delinquency reserve fund, the junior college income cut from $100 per pupil to $60, and the indication by the county that the system will receive the absolute minimum of county aid.

Estimates Made

In submitting his report of the anticipated increase in tax delinquencies Davis said that he has no definite figures and that all figures quoted by him are only approximated and estimates. He submitted a table showing the rise in tax delinquencies during the past five years from 2.26 per cent in 1928 which amounted to $9,436.23 to the anticipated 10 per cent for 1932 which will, if correct, amount to $51,975.00.

The report gave a comparison of the 1932-33 estimated income with the preliminary budget after the new situation has been considered. This report showed deficiency of $18,550 in the junior college; $745 in the high school, and $30,772 in the elementary budgets. The building fund surplus available will take $12,000 from the elementary shortage and the increased teachers' load amounting to a saving of $21,225 will help to balance the budget and if the adult education department is eliminated for this year the budget will reach an approximate balance, the report said.

In speaking on further economies necessary Dr. Davis said that he thought they had better be made in some direction other than elimination of more teachers. Further reductions, he said, would be harmful to the school program.

LEADERS SAY HOOVER VOTE FINE TRIBUTE

was declared here today by Mark L. Requa, Republican national committeeman for California.

"The vote cast for President Hoover in the recent primary election is a magnificent demonstration of confidence and friendliness upon the part of the citizens of California for our great President," said Mr. Requa.

"It exceeds any vote ever cast in a previous California presidential primary and is an emphatic repudiation of the malicious lies and personal attacks that have been made upon the President.

"I want to express to the Republicans of the state the very deep appreciation of the entire Republican for this demonstration of trust in the Republican party, the same policies and the sterling qualities of our leader, Herbert Hoover.

Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMAN

Congress and the Management of Money

NEW YORK—By a vote of nearly five to one the House has declared that it desires that the credit and money of the United States should be managed to accomplish a certain definite object. The object specified in the bill is the elevation of the average price of wholesale commodities by about 50 per cent and thus its maintenance at that level. This declaration is contained in the so-called Goldsborough bill.

If the injunction contained in this bill is taken literally, the bill is inherently absurd and impossible. For wholesale commodity prices are for the most part world prices, and it is inconceivable that the Federal Reserve system, which controls neither the volume of world production nor the volume of the world credit and currency, can by its own action determine the world price.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Raefnsynder attended the following dinner guests recently: Leo LaPlant and Miss Hollie Seaman, of Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Raefnsynder. The dinner was given in honor of Mr. LaPlant, a cousin of Ray and Wayne Raefnsynder, who is leaving soon for Kansas.

Mr. B. R. Day and Mrs. Fred Soest took part in the program presented by the Treble Clef club at the First Methodist church in Long Beach Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Raefnsynder, Miss Frances Duncan and Manly Natland attended a dance given by the Fuller 20-30 club at the Hacienda Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Johnson of Belmont Shore, spent several days at the A. J. Kelley home.

Mrs. George R. Rebury is spending a few days with friends in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Nettie Haywood, mother of Mrs. Paul Younger, has left for her home in Fowler, Kans.

R. S. Virgin, who has been looking after his mining interests in the vicinity of Kingman, Ariz., for the past several weeks, arrived home Sunday.

Miss Margaret Phillips was the guest of Miss Dorothy Sutor at the annual Latin club banquet at the cafeteria of the Anaheim Union high school Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ronk, who have been making their home for the past eight months in the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Olive L. Ford, have moved to Santa Ana.

But supposing this difficulty were gotten over. Suppose we had a year in which the principal agricultural crops were all excessive. Then, according to the sponsors of the Goldsborough bill, the managers of credit would have to force agricultural prices up. But while they were doing that they would also be forcing all other prices up. The prices of manufactured articles, of real estate and of securities would rise, with the result that soon there would be overproduction of goods. While the managers of credit were trying to raise agricultural prices, they would by an inflation be throwing the business of everybody else out of balance. Suppose then, in another year, that the crops were short. When prices rose, it would become the duty of the central banking authorities to deflate them. But in deflating them they would deflate business as well and so bring on a depression.

The fallacy of the Goldsborough bill taken literally, is that it proposes to do an impossible thing, which would be undesirable, even if it could be done. Specifically, its fallacy lies in selecting one comparatively small group of prices, namely, wholesale commodity prices, and forgetting all about the other prices which constitute the great bulk of the nation's trade. If the committee had studied the problem more thoroughly it would have selected a general price level which, because it is composed of a much larger group of transactions is in the first place more just, and in the second place more nearly under control of the American banking system. For a general price level, which took account of all kinds of prices, would not fluctuate so wildly.

GYM CIRCUS AT Y.M.C.A. PROVES BIG SUCCESS

were equally effective. Benton VanDien, Fred Garland and Paul Hales gave performances showing an unusual degree of ability as amateurs in tumbling. In style and finish, and in the daring of the feats they undertake, they show rare skill, observers declare.

The group of athletes of the senior gymnasium class made a number of choice offerings. Ivan Scott, Benton VanDien, Fred Garland, Fred Durbin, Coleman Hickey, Paul Hales, Edward Gaebe and others were presented in various stunts on the high bars, the parallel bars, the springboards and the flying rings, in addition to the highland fling and the Indian club drill given by the entire class.

John McBride and Charles Spitzer made pleasing fun as clowns, with the aid of a number of other highly decorated funmakers, whose identity was concealed by greasepaint.

From the opening "parade" to the closing pyramids, formed on the ladders, there was not a dull moment in the program. The feats of N. T. Burgess and son, on the slackwire, as jugglers and baton wielders, and at sharpshooting held the breathless attention of the audience. When Mr. Burgess split a bullet on a knife blade, he was given an ovation.

Boys in large numbers presented their drills and mass movements. They ranged in size all the way from small lads of nine years up to the junior high school age, and the smaller boys were no less enjoyable in their work than the older ones. The group of boy tumblers came in for much comment. Jack Mair, Norman Boyd, Norval Witt, Carroll Joy and Milton Crawford were the stars of this group. Their performance, with the aid of their director, was unusually pleasing to the audience.

later of internal injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Long, Hutchings and Erp suffered injuries but all were able to appear at the inquest yesterday.

Relatives of Mrs. Erp, in testifying at the inquest, revealed that Erp had dropped his last name several years ago.

Funeral services will be held at Corona Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Don Netters Play
Riverside's Here

On the Frances Willard courts here tomorrow, Santa Ana junior college's tennis team strives for its fourth Orange Empire conference victory. The Dons meet Riverside at 2:15 p.m.

Losing only to Chaffey, Santa Ana holds victories over Pomona, San Bernardino, and Citrus. The loss of Verl Moyer, second singles, who will be at Riverside playing baseball, will handicap the Dons, but Walt Carruthers is expected to come through in good style. Bob Kirk, as usual, will play first singles. Other Dons to see action are Bob Hafer, Dick Evans, Doug McAdams, Don Shirey, Leell Slaback and Harry Nissley. Glen Eustice may replace Evans or Hafer.

The meeting will be held under auspices of the newly-formed Orange County Taxpayers and Voters association, of which J. A. Vye, of Fullerton, is president. Affiliation of the local group with the state-wide taxpayers association may be discussed at tonight's meeting. Already there are a number of members of the state association in Orange county, it is pointed out, and such proposed merger would make available locally the larger facilities and experience of the state association in the effort to reduce taxes.

Taxpayers who do not find it convenient to attend the 6:30 dinner, will be welcomed at the ensuing business meeting starting at 7:30, it was announced today by President Vye.

SAN CLEMENTE MAN BLAMED IN WIFE'S DEATH

Homer Wright Erp, San Clemente chef, was blamed for the death of his wife, Cora Ellen Wright Erp, fatally injured in a head-on automobile collision at Doheny Park Monday night, in a verdict returned by a coroner's jury at the Roy Divel Funeral parlors in the Spanish village yesterday afternoon.

Testimony was that Erp, known in San Clemente as Homer Wright, was driving south on the wrong side of the road when his machine collided with one driven by Mrs. James Long, Jr., of Santa Monica. In the car with Mrs. Long were her husband and Ralph Hutchings.

Mrs. Erp was rushed to the San Clemente Community hospital, at which place she died a few hours

Editor Register:

The attached clipping from the "Personal" ads. of last night's paper seems to indicate that the "Anneka Jans Bogordus and Trinity Church" swindle is still in operation.

MEETING OF A. J. B. or Trinity Heirs Thursday, 7:30 p. m., 319 East Bishop.

This is another along the lines of that a short time ago, when some people were induced to part with money for filing claims to property down on the Irvine ranch.

I first heard of Anneka Jans and Trinity Church something over 40 years ago when about eight or nine years old, and my grandfather received notice from certain New York "lawyers" that he had fallen heir to property in that city and the Dutch East Indies worth millions of dollars.

Since that time at various intervals I have heard and read in the papers of people who have fallen heir to this same property; although the courts decided years ago that if there were any such claims they were outlawed here.

Yours truly,

CHARLES B. WEBER.

WESTMINSTER, May 6.—Mrs. William Graham and four children of La Habra spent Tuesday in the home of her mother, Mrs. A. J. Fogler.

Mrs. Helen Burns, in company with her mother, Mrs. Ray Wardlow, of Talbert, and sister, Mrs. Frank Garr, of Garden Grove, spent Monday in Compton with the other sister, Mrs. Martha Oliver.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Grandy were visitors in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Grandy, having returned from Los Angeles, where they had been for several weeks. Marinal Grandy, who has been with her grandparents, returned to Laguna with her family.

The home of S. Hirami, which has been under quarantine for several weeks, was released Monday.

The two sons of the Hirami family, who have been ill with a fever, remain at the county hospital but are improving.

myself; however an uncle on my

BELGIAN CONGO DESCRIBED FOR LEGION GROUP

ORANGE, May 6.—The Belgian Congo, where he lived for many years, was described by Ross Atherton at a meeting of the American Legion Thursday night. Atherton told of the products and exports of the country. The Belgian Congo is 80 times the size of Belgium, the speaker said, and holds the first place in the world in the export of copper, ivory, radium, cobalt and diamonds.

There are vast coal fields in the country which are undeveloped and the country is twelfth in potential waterpower, he said.

While natives of the country, the Bantu people, are black skinned, they are really from a white race, Atherton said. The natives have the same mentality as white people and the children make more rapid progress in school than do white children. The natives are descendants of races which entered Africa at the time of the dispersion and are Arabs who have mingled with black races. The blackest among the Bantus are the healthiest, he declared.

Native children receive one meal a day in their homes, Atherton said, as agriculture is not developed. Women work the fields. Atherton's work was that of an agricultural missionary. In the mission schools the children are given two meals a day.

Twenty-Four Hours That Made History---

Ezra Lee, the doughty Yankee who made the first submarine attack in the history of naval warfare.

By HENRY W.
LAWRENCE

JUST past five o'clock in the morning of a day in early September of the year 1776. As to weather, a fine day; as to the deeds to be performed within the next 24 hours, a fateful day for the infant United States of America.

George Washington is awake early and anxiously scanning the sky. Much depends on whether that sky keeps clear and whether the waters, in the vicinity of New York City at least, remain calm during the following night.

The success or failure of the American rebellion against Great Britain may well hinge on whether the waters of New York Harbor are calm enough during the coming night so that they can be safely navigated by the first fighting submarine ever used.

Here is the stage setting for this strange and almost forgotten drama.

Washington and the American army are hard-pressed in New York City by British forces of overwhelming strength. A few days earlier, after the rebel defeat in the disastrous battle of Long Island, it was only by the grace of God and the negligence of the British General Howe that Washington had managed to ferry his forces back into New York during a foggy night, before the British fleet cut them off and the British army destroyed them.

THE American cause desperately needed a victory to tone up its morale; but Washington was practically helpless so long as the enemy's navy controlled the surrounding waters. Aided by his ships, Howe could attack when and where he pleased.

There was imminent danger that he might, as he later actually did, strike somewhat to the north of the city. Unless the American troops had previously retreated, they would then be surrounded and compelled to surrender.

The alternative which confronted Washington, therefore, on this September day in 1776, was to chase away the British fleet or else to retreat promptly out of New York.

Chase away the British fleet? What with? This is the cue which brings upon the scene the hero of this almost incredible yet quite authentic drama.

This lone hero of the deep, the first undersea warrior of all time, was a Connecticut Yankee named Ezra Lee, whom history has strangely failed to reward with the fame which is undoubtedly his due.

When he was told that General Washington needed him for this desperate and uncanny venture, he answered promptly, "My life is at General Washington's service." He had the hard luck, so far as historic fame is concerned, not to get killed at his perilous task; hence the world has forgotten all about him.

EVEN more interesting, perhaps, than the hero himself, was the freak submarine, invented by another Connecticut Yankee named David Bushnell, in which he set out to chase the British warships out of New York Harbor.

This wonder-boat was about as big as the largest turtle in the world, and about the same shape too, so its inventor had named it the "Turtle." Its crew consisted of just one man, and when he got aboard, the vessel was chockfull.

He had to climb in through a hole in the "Turtle's" head, hardly big enough to squeeze through, and then close the door after him, or rather screw down the lid. Moreover, he must go to work with both hands and both feet, for he was not only the captain and the crew, but also the engine which drove all the machinery.

With one hand he worked the oars or propeller that drove the boat; with the other he grasped the tiller which did the horizontal steering; with one foot he made the ship sink, by

WHEN GEORGE WASHINGTON ROUTED the BRITISH WITH A SUBMARINE

How the first under-sea warrior of all time, a Connecticut Yankee named Ezra Lee, scared the English fleet out of New York harbor with a primitive one-man submersible opening a valve and letting water into the ballast tanks; with the remaining foot he worked a pump which forced the water out and thus made the craft rise.

With any spare hands or feet he happened to have, he might work a little vertical propeller, which also helped to raise or lower the ship in the surrounding water.

BEFORE setting out in this perilous and improbable craft, the reader should understand it thoroughly. Hence a further description is here copied verbatim from a letter written many years after its memorable voyage in 1776, by its chauffeur, Ezra Lee. He writes:

"Seven hundred pounds of lead were fixed on the bottom for ballast, and two hundred weight of it was so contrived as to be let go in case the pumps choked, so that you could rise to the surface of the water."

"It was sunk by letting in water by a spring near the bottom, by placing your foot against which the water would rush in, and when sinking take off your foot and it would cease to come in and you would sink no further; but if you had sunk too far, pump out water until you got the necessary depth. These pumps forced the water out of the bottom, one being on each side of you as you rowed.

"A pocket compass was fixed in the side, with a piece of light wood on the north side, and another on the east side, to steer by while under water." (A note here explains that "This light wood is what we sometimes call for fire, and is the dry wood that shines in the dark: this was necessary as the points of the compass could not readily be seen without.)

"Three round doors were cut in the head, each three inches diameter, to let in fresh air until you wished to sink, and then they were shut down and fastened. There was also a glass tube 12 inches long and one inch diameter, with a cork in it, with a piece of light wood fixed to it, and another piece at the bottom of the tube to tell the depth of descent; one inch rise of the cork in the tube gave about one fathom water.

"THERE was a screw that pierced through the top of the machine with a water joint which was so very sharp that it would enter wood with very little force; and this was turned with a wrench or crank, and when entered fast in the bottom of the ship that is being attacked the screw is then left and the machine is disengaged by unscrewing another one inside that held the other.

"From the screw now fixed on the bottom

What the first of all fighting submarines was like. Seated inside, the operator worked the rudder with one hand and the propeller with the other, while his feet operated the pumps by which he could submerge or come to the surface. Note the screw contrivance on top, with which he was to bore into the enemy ship's hull and fasten his magazine, or torpedo.

of the ship a line (is) let to and fastened to the magazine to prevent its escape either side of the ship. The magazine (of powder) was directly behind you on the outside, and was freed from you by unscrewing a screw inside.

"Inside the magazine was a clock machinery, which immediately sets a going after it is disengaged, and a gun lock is fixed to strike fire to the powder at the set time after the clock should run down. The clock might be set to go longer or shorter; 20 or 30 minutes was the usual time to let the navigator escape.

"This magazine was shaped like an egg and made of oak dug out in two pieces, bound together with bands of iron, corked and paid over with tar so as to be perfectly tight; and the clock was formed so as not to run until this magazine was unscrewed."

AT sunrise on this fateful day in 1776, George Washington is by no means the only anxious scanner of the New York skies. Ezra Lee was another. He was painfully aware that he knew a lot less about how to operate this strange new underseaboot than he wished he knew.

Its inventor, David Bushnell, who knew all

"... when they had got within 50 or 60 yards of me I let loose the magazine in hopes that if they should take me we should all be blown up together. . . . The magazine went off with a tremendous explosion."

about the craft, was physically quite unfit to operate it. Lee had performed in a few rehearsals with it, "practised with it in several harbours" as he said, but never in a real battle.

The battle date could not, however, be postponed. It was set for the earliest possible fair day, and that day had arrived.

The submarine had been taken up Long Island Sound to Saybrook, Connecticut, where its inventor had made "some little alterations." Then it was taken back as far as New Rochelle, and from there carted overland to the Hudson.

And now at last, if General Howe did not attack before nightfall, and if the weather held fair and calm all day, the rather forlorn attempt would be made to blow, or scare, the British fleet out of New York Harbor.

All day long they watched the weather and the enemy. When neither showed any signs of change, and at length sunset came, the Turtle and her stout-hearted skipper got ready for the fray.

Seven o'clock, and all quiet on the Hudson. All quiet, too, in the British fleet, down off Staten Island. These sailors could have scarcely felt safer in a home port. Keeping watch was of course required by the naval regulations, but there seemed really nothing dangerous to keep watch against on this quiet night.

EIGHT o'clock. The sun had set more than an hour and a half ago, but it was still too light and the tide was not yet right for the perilous attack. The whale boats and their crews were at hand, all ready to tow the clumsy Turtle down the river to the enemy ships.

The records do not give the exact hour at which this strange expedition finally set forth. They say merely that the boats which towed the Turtle down to the vicinity of the British fleet, left it there "the first part of the night."

With the coming of morning, nevertheless, exciting things began to happen, visible to expectant observers in New York.

"While these anxious spectators were about to give him up as lost," says an article printed 45 years later, at the time of Lee's death, "several barges were seen to start suddenly from Governor's Island, then in possession of the British, and proceed toward some object near the Asia, ship of the line. As suddenly, they were seen to put about and steer for the island with springing oars."

"In two or three minutes an explosion took place from the surface of the water, resembling a water spout, which aroused the whole city and region. The enemy's ships took the alarm; signals were rapidly given; the ships cut their cables and proceeded to the Hook with all possible dispatch, with difficulty preventing their affrighted crews from leaping overboard."

Ezra Lee himself, in a letter to a friend written years after the adventure, described events as follows:

"I WILL try to give you a short account of my voyage in this machine. The British fleet lay a little above Staten Island. We set off from the city; the whale boats towed me as high as the ships as they dared to go and then cast me off.

"When I rowed under the stern of the ship I could see the men on deck and hear them talk. I then shut down all the doors, sank down and came under the bottom of the ship. Up with the screw against the bottom but found that it would not enter.

"I pulled again to try another place, but delayed a little one side and immediately rose with great velocity and came above the surface two or three feet between the ship and the daylight, then sunk again like a porpoise.

"I HOVED about to try again, but on further thought I gave out, knowing that as soon as it was light the ships' boats would be rowing in all directions, and I thought the best generalship was to retreat as fast as I could, as I had four miles to go before passing Governor's Island.

"So I jogg'd on as fast as I could, and my compass being then of no use to me, I was obliged to rise up every few minutes to see that I sailed in the right direction, and for this purpose keeping the machine on the surface of the water and the doors open.

"The enemy's attention was drawn towards me from Governor's Island. When I was abreast of the fort on the Island, three or four hundred men got upon the parapet to observe me; at length a number came down to the shore, shov'd off a 12-oar'd barge with five or six oars and pulled for me.

"I eyed them, and when they had got within 50 or 60 yards of me I let loose the magazine in hopes that if they should take me they would likewise pick up the magazine, and then we should all be blown up together. But as kind Providence would have it, they took fright, and returned to the island to my infinite joy. I then weathered the island and our people seeing me, came off with a whaleboat and towed me into the shore.

"THE magazine, after getting a little past the island, went off with a tremendous explosion, throwing up large bodies of water to an immense height."

"Another account adds, "When the explosion took place, General Putnam" (Old Israel) "was vastly pleased, and cried out in his peculiar way—'God's curse 'em, that'll do for 'em!'"

Putnam was right. The Turtle was able to "do it for 'em," even though it was necessary for Washington to evacuate New York a little later.

Hero Ezra Lee and Inventor David Bushnell had, between them, done vastly more than ease temporarily the desperate situation of the American forces. They had demonstrated that the submarine was a ship of war with which the future must reckon.

Problems for Parents Told Harbor Class

NORTHWEST HEIGHTS, May 6.—A group of 57 mothers had a special treat when the parental education class met at the Newport Harbor Union high school Thursday with three splendid speakers present. Walter P. Dexter, Ph.D., president of Whittier college; Miss Frances West, A.B., University of California at Berkeley, teacher of physical education for girls of the harbor school and Ralph K. Reed, M.A., U.S.C. boys' director of physical education of the high school.

These applying for the office were Ralph Alea, Lee Howard, T. L. Burns, W. C. Johnson, L. W. Thorpe, Hans P. Schmidt, F. C. Honeywell, W. F. Hardey, H. J. De Pottie, A. D. Glenn, C. L. Mitchell, James N. Zoeter, W. M. Hodson, Charles A. Innes and A. J. Haws. James N. Zoeter, a well known Seal Beach man, was named chief of police. Ex-Chief E. H. Porter turned over the badge with his congratulations saying, "I will be glad to help you all I can and if I cannot help you, I certainly will not harm you."

Due to the change in the salaries of city offices, a new ordinance concerning this was drawn up by the new city attorney, Burr Brown. Following is the new salary schedule: City councilmen, $10; city clerk, $100; city treasurer, half of one per cent of city funds each month; city attorney, $25 for each meeting and added compensation on other work rendered; chief of police, $150 salary and $25 for equipment; city judge, $25 salary and $25 clerk hire; water superintendent, $50 salary; $25 for fire chief; $25 for street superintendent; $25 for building inspector; $25 for electrical inspector.

A request for permission to erect three temporary stands for July 2, 3 and 4 was granted the Anaheim Bay post of the American Legion. These stands will be built at L. White's place at the "Y" of Hathaway cut off and Coast highway.

Action will be started at once to plant a species of ice plant flower in the parking strips throughout the city. The suggestion that this be done was sent in by the Woman's club, the letter being signed by Mary Taylor and Mary Washburn.

The latest vocal eruption of Josef Paul Kuckoschka, alias Jack Sharkey, is among his best. Josef Paul says he would be glad to fight Max Schmeling, even in an empty stadium. A WORD FROM CONNIE

Mr. Mack took his Athletics into the clubhouse the other day, locked the doors and poured a few gentle snoozes into their ears. What Mack said is not recorded, for in all 30 years that Mack has been delivering such lectures, nothing what he spoke has been made public. But after the talk, several of the players, including "Bing" Miller and Al Simmons, went out on the diamond for a workout, even though it was raining at the time.

COLLAPSE?

Many baseball writers already have heralded the collapse of the Athletics, based on the performance of the team during the first few weeks of play. It is still too early to say. The A's can become uncollapse very quickly when Al Simmons starts hitting, which he usually does.

THEY LIKE HAFAY

TICK ON CHOICE IN WIDE OPEN DERBY CLASSIC RIVERSIDE TILT

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—For a few fleeting moments tomorrow the turf world will thrill to the fifty-eighth running of the Kentucky Derby, America's most famous horse race.

At the end of the long mile-and-a-quarter struggle a new champion will be added to the long line of equine kings stretching back to Aristides, the little red horse which won the first Derby back in 1875.

Picking the winner for money, marbles or pastime, occupied the attention of owners, trainers, jockeys, touts and plain civilians who crowded through the narrow streets of this old Southern city today.

Tick On continued to rule the favorite, but in many quarters the race was regarded as the most wide-open in years. It has been a long time since an outsider breezed home. The last Derby winner to pay a price was Zev, who won at 19-1 in 1923.

Six of the eight Derby winners since Zev have been favorites, another was a second choice at 3-1 and the other was a field horse at 31-1. Twenty Grand was an odds-on choice last year, paying only 88 cents on the dollar.

After a series of form reversals, mishaps and misfortunes almost unprecedented in Derby history, it seems that anything is likely to happen tomorrow.

Tick On, the Loma stable's jet black colt; Stepenfetich, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's ace, and Burgo King, pride of Kentucky, and Col. E. R. Bradley's chief hope, stand out on class as the leading contenders.

But class hasn't meant much of this year's group of Derby candidates. Every horse starting in tomorrow's race has been beaten at least once except Liberty Limited, and he hasn't been to the post.

The race is considered so open that at least one owner made up his mind overnight to gamble the starting fee of $500 against the approximate winning purse of $50,000 on a horse he hadn't even

YOUNG ORANGE BOXER FINALLY MEETS MASTER

Reputations are made only to be broken, and young "Bud" McCarter of Orange realized this as he picked up the pieces of his today.

"Bud," most sensational of Delhil's amateur fighters, a "pitcher" of half a dozen knockouts in recent months, became one of the "catchers" himself at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

Henry Pena, rough and tough Los Angeles middleweight, representing the Pico Athletic club, knocked out McCarter in the first round of a madcap main event.

The result stunned a big crowd which had assembled to watch another predicted Roman holiday for the hard-hitting McCarter.

SEEDS CAN GO

The speed of Bob Seeds will add much to the White Sox outfit. Just to make a brash prediction, they will be ranking Seeds very soon with such outfields as "Mule" Haas. And they are ranking the Mule pretty high. In some parts of the bleachers you can pick up the information that Haas is the greatest center fielder since Tris Speaker.

SAVING BALL GAMES

A great many ball games are saved in center field. Haas saved two this year from the Yankees. A couple of long drives of Ruth's, to the remotest reach in center field, would have broken up the games in which they were made if Haas had not been there.

SAVING BALL GAMES

It might seem far-fetched to say that when the Cardinals traded Hafay to the Reds they put some liver into the pocket of Phil Ball,

Then it was just too bad.

Doyle Richards put McCarter in the slag for nine seconds. When "Bud" crawled to his heavy limbs he was all in. He didn't backpedal.

He just stood there and Pena dropped him again with another swing to the chin that must have been felt clear over at Orange.

McCarter was counted out by Referee Harry Lee. Eighteen seconds of the first round remained.

This was McCarter's first fistic defeat.

Doyle Richards beat Kid Sierra all the way, the go the nod in the semi. Sierra was on his bicycle most of the journey.

Manderscheid Wins

Lloyd Manderscheid, billed as "Red" Mandott, knocked out George Dennis with the first punch of the fight. Dennis was scared to death.

Rallying in the second and third rounds after being outpunched in the opener, Ralph Montoya earned a decision over Nat Mills in a darp of a battle.

Johnny Rodriguez scored a technical knockout over Johnny Orozco, the latter being on the floor at the end of the second round and being unable to answer the call for the third.

Teacher Tenure Problem Again Bothers School Board

DISMISSAL OF TEACHER MAY

SPEAKS TONIGHT
Dr. Paul W. Ivey, below, famous sales lecturer and sales counselor who is now professor of merchandising at the University of Southern California, will deliver a free lecture at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 11 of the junior college building under the auspices of a committee composed of members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's association.

Probabilities of a court battle arising over the elimination of Miss Bertha Briney from the teaching staff of the Frances Willard Junior High school loomed last night at a meeting of the board of education.

Charles D. Swanner, legal representative of Miss Briney, appeared before the board and asked that body to reconsider her dismissal voted on last week. He indicated that if relief was not forthcoming from the board his client would take the matter into court and fight for her position on the grounds that under the tenure law her status is that of a permanent teacher.

A similar case was called to the attention of the board by W. M. Burke, one of the trustees. Miss Lola Gould, teacher in the music department of both the elementary and junior high schools was released from duty next year in action taken several weeks ago when the elementary orchestra department was abolished.

Burke said that Miss Gould had informed him that she had been teaching in the city schools for approximately five years. Four and a half years of that time she has been teaching music in the junior high schools. She called attention to the fact that music instruction in the junior high schools has not been eliminated and declares she has a permanent status in both elementary and junior high schools which entitles her to a position in the junior high school.

Delay Action

The board decided to delay action on both cases and in the meantime, acting upon the motion of Burke, a written opinion in the case will be requested from Deputy District Attorney William Menton.

Addressing the board on behalf of Miss Briney, Swanner informed the members that when his client was granted a leave of absence of one year in 1925 her rating was that of permanent teacher. At the end of the leave of absence she was not given a new contract, being informed by J. C. Cranston, then superintendent of schools, that there was no position to offer her that year. Swanner pointed out that his client did not seek to enforce her right to a contract that year nor the next when a similar situation arose. Each time she was asked to wait for another year and assured that her status would be unchanged. The third year she was given a secretarial post in the superintendent's office for one semester and was returned to teaching the next semester.

The fact that when she was returned to teaching duty she was given a $100 increase and not returned to probationary pay, Swanner said, indicated that the board

TWINS—BORN IN TWO STATES!

These twins—boy and girl—will have a story to tell all their lives, for the boy (left) was born in Nebraska and his twin sister (right) in Iowa. The boy was born to Mrs. F. H. Simpson of South Sioux City, Neb., and the mother rushed by ambulance to a hospital at Sioux City, Iowa—just across the Missouri river—where the girl was born 30 minutes later. Mother and children are doing nicely, thank you.

ADVISE WALNUT GROWERS TO BEGIN SPRAYING NOW
FOR CONTROL OF PESTS

Walnut growers are advised by the office of A. A. Brock, county agricultural commissioner, to begin spraying immediately for the control of codding moth and aphids. Codding moth eggs are being found in the orchards over the county and the treatment should begin at once without further inspection, according to Deputy W. H. Wright.

It required more material this year, short, two or three weeks at best, than in the past due to heavier fall.

Black Leaf 40 should be included in the spray material because aphid infestations are generally heavy throughout the county and if there are any worms crawling on the nuts the Black Leaf 40 will kill these worms before they make entrance into the nut.

In conclusion we wish to urge the growers to have their orchards sprayed within the next two weeks if possible.

TALBERT

TALBERT, May 6—Word of the marriage of Dave Cousyn, brother of Mrs. Otto Folkert, has been received by Mrs. Folkert. The wedding took place at Sioux Falls, S. D. and the couple will live at Little Rock, Ark., where the groom is in business. Mr. Cousyn is a former Talbert resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne attended a chicken dinner given at Memorial hall, Huntington Beach, by the Altar society.

Mrs. M. L. Thurman, who has been ill, is improved but is not yet able to be up. Her daughter, Mrs. Betty Carter of Long Beach, who was visiting in the S. E. Talbert home, where Mrs. Thurman lives, when she became ill, has remained to assist her sisters in the mother's care.

The Rev. W. A. Ray and Mrs. Ray, of Hermosa Beach, were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert while visiting in Talbert one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fallon, of Rialto, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Robert Harper, were dinner guests one day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harper.

Physicians have acknowledged that light's velocity is one of the most fundamental constants of nature.

BOARD ELECTS
MORE TEACHERS
FOR CITY STAFF

Thirteen teachers of the 44 teachers who were elected last night by the board of education for duty next year, will be given permanent tenure by the election. Four of the 13 teachers are on the high school and junior college faculty, one in the junior high school system, and eight are elementary teachers.

In electing these teachers it was decided to include in their contracts a clause waiving this right of tenure. In the discussion over whether or not the clause should be included its inclusion was recommended by Dr. Percy R. Davis who said that it should be included in the contracts despite the fact that such a waiver could not be enforced if a teacher desires to ignore it.

Rolla Hayes also opposed the inclusion of the clause on the grounds that tenure was granted by law and to insist on a teacher waiving this right in order to retain a position at present is not enforcing the law.

W. M. Burke spoke in favor of inclusion of the tenure waiver saying that while the board could not legally enforce such waiver it could depend upon the moral fiber of the teachers in the city school system to fulfill the agreement as it was understood that none would be asked to resign unless it was a matter of absolute economical necessity or a matter of inefficiency.

In addition to the 13 teachers going on permanent tenure, the board elected 31 probationary teachers in the high school, junior college and elementary system leaving a large group to be acted on at the next meeting Tuesday night.

Teachers elected to go on permanent tenure were:

High school and junior college: Stuart Carrier, Dorothy Decker, Edgar Flowers, Genevieve Humiston.

Junior high school: Carroll Neewanger.

Elementary: Mrs. Sue Baxter, Lora Bean, Mrs. Hazel Campbell, Mrs. Emma Kelly, Frances Knudsen, Rowena Moore, Ruth Stephenson, Enid Twiss.

Probationary Group

Probationary teachers not going on permanent status who were elected last night were:

High school and junior college: Robert R. Benson, Euse H. Hammon, Sheldon Hayden, Byron F. Quivey, Esther Schwaiger, Theo Schwaege.

Junior high school: Vera Jacobs, Lura Maas, Evelyn Metzgar, Mary Steel, Mary Jane Steel.

This Ought To Be A Record

Not much wheat is grown in Southern California, but like everything else, what is grown, is grown in a big way. This can be attested to by W. H. Marshall, of 915 Bush street, who brought a wheat plant into the Register office, which he claimed, grew 83 stalks from a single seed—and that's some growing, even for Southern California.

Marshall, who for 40 years has been a rancher and who has had a great deal of experience in growing wheat, says that the ordinary stalk of bearded wheat has from 10 to 15 stalks of wheat heads of grain.

The wheat stalk was grown in the garden of his home here and was the only wheat in the garden. When wheat is not sown too thickly, he stated, from 10 to 15 straws grow on the same root from one seed. When it is sown closer together not as many straws grow from a single seed, he said.

Planned for Danseuse

Arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dowsett and their small son Douglas, from their desert home at Mojave for an extended visit with Miss Margaret Livingston, 525 South Parton street, has been the signal for a succession of charmingly intimate affairs planned by friends of Mrs. Dowsett, formerly Miss Joy Leitch of Santa Ana and Los Angeles.

The latest of these was when Mrs. D. K. Hammond assembled a group of Mrs. Dowsett's closer friends for an informal tea in her home, 210 West Orange road. Mrs. Roy Russell and Mrs. Irene Peek are others who contemplate similar courtesies in the near future.

When she made Santa Ana her home, the honored at these pleasant affairs was well known indeed as the founder of unusually interesting dancing classes, and was heralded as a danseuse of wide fame. After having conducted classes here for many months she filled professional engagements in the east which added to her fame. Since her marriage to Frank Dowsett, a former well known newspaperman of this city, later of San Francisco, she has not done much professional dancing, and the two have made their home at Mojave for the past year.

Local Writer Featured
On L. A. Program

Although Miss Beulah May, 1902 Mabury street, planned to go to Los Angeles today to be present at the evening meeting of the League of Western Writers, she was not to be present at the afternoon program given at 4:30 o'clock in the Los Angeles Public library, when her poetical works were to be read and discussed as a feature of a program celebrating Poetry week. According to the Santa Ana writer a place on the formal program with Hildegrade Flanner, Helen Hoyt and Arthur Trueman Morrell, is recognized by her friends, as a distinctive honor, and one indicating the manner in which Miss May is becoming recognized as one of California's leading woman poets.

While the other three writers in all probability were to read their own offerings on the program, Miss May's poems were read by Leetha Journey Probst, who aroused such interest in recent radio programs by choosing Miss May's work to present.

Antonian Club Has Dinner at Park

A pleasant evening at Irvine park was enjoyed this week by members of the Antonian club, who started the affair with a delicious dinner to which all contributed dishes. Dancing in the pavilion was enjoyed following the dinner hour.

Members of the committee in charge were William Carroll, chairman, Bernard Haupert, Edward Hoffner, Miss Patricia Lynch and Miss Bernadine Ashen.

Present as special guests were Father F. A. Wekemeyer and Father Nevin, of St. Joseph's church.

Girls to Be Revealed
At Luncheon

Mid-winter Wedding
Date Revealed by Bride's Arrival

Formal announcement of the induction in the 1932 edition of "First the Blade" anthology of college verse, of contributions of two Santa Ana girls, Miss Celeste Straub and Miss Catherine Cosner, who entered their work from the Santa Ana Junior college, will be made at a luncheon in the Pasadena Community playhouse tomorrow, which Miss Straub will attend with Mrs. Robert Northcros of the junior college English department. Miss Cosner, who is now attending San Diego Teachers' college, will be unable to be present.

The anthology, undertaken several years ago for the purpose of encouraging poetic talent among college students, and of recognizing their best efforts with publication, originated at the Fullerton Junior college and has grown to the length of the coast.

Both Miss Cosner and Miss Straub have written frequently for the "Tavern Post," local college publication, and have otherwise distinguished themselves in the field of literature.

Miss Straub, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Straub, is in her sophomore year at the junior college and has given promise of considerable talent, a promise justified by the selection of her work for publication in the college anthology. Her fellow recipient, Miss Cosner, is the daughter of Mrs. C. B. Cosner and graduated from the Santa Ana college last year preparatory to entering the field of teaching.

Previous junior college students of this city who have won this coveted honor include Miss Clara Almond, whose work was published in 1930, and Miss Margaret Neely, with her contribution, "Translations from the Greek Anthology," who has distinguished herself at the University of California at Berkeley since leaving the local campus. Miss Neely, who has been majoring in Greek at the northern university, has contributed to the several literary publications of that campus and will graduate cum laude this spring, her friends have been advised.

Instituted at Fullerton, the anthology was published last year at Redlands University, and this year, by the Pasadena Junior college.

Sorority Bride-elect
Honored at Etched
Glass Shower

Although the meeting on Wednesday night of Sigma Tau Psi sorority with Miss Mary Read, 402 South Birch street, seemed to be the usual combined business and social session of this interesting group of young women, there was an air of suppressed excitement that had its explanation after the brief business interval was concluded.

For it transpired that it was a very special occasion indeed, and that Miss Read as hostess, had planned it as a pre-nuptial compliment to Miss Phyllis Pope, who recently revealed to Sigma Tau Psi sisters, her betrothal and approaching marriage to Roy Grise. It was primarily in Miss Pope's honor then, that the hostess had decked her home with flowers, choosing many larkspur, cornflowers and other blue blossoms to mingle with delicate pink and orchid blooms that formed the pretty spring-like clusters.

Bridge was played, and when scores were tallied the smart costume bracelets in red, white and blue selected for first prize, went to Miss Jean Rowland, while a pretty compact consoled Miss Muriel Rogers.

It was when these gifts were awarded that Miss Read took the opportunity to present to her honor guest, Miss Pope, the array of blue-ribboned packages brought by the guests for the chief surprise feature of the evening, the gift shower. The pleasure with which Miss Pope opened the packages and assembled the set of etched Fostoria glass in soft azure blue, was matched only by that of the sorority members in having chosen a gift which so pleased her.

For the daintily served two-course supper which brought the evening to a close, Miss Read, assisted by Miss Winifred Johnson, placed quaint little old-fashioned nosegays in which blue flowers predominated, in the center of each diners' spread table.

The varied pleasure of the evening were shared by hostess and honoree, Miss Read and Miss Pope, with the Misses Jean Rowland, Lucy Holmes, Muriel Rogers, Alyce Majors, Beth Westcott, Jean Peacock, Carol House, Agnes Wheeler, Lucille Conaway, Bethel Dickenson, Elsie Wright of Fullerton, Doris Goff, Virginia Berry, Louise Leck, Winifred Johnson, Anne Tarver, Mrs. Francis Selway, Mrs. Kenneth Connor, Mrs. Harry Fisher, Mrs. Edmund Linsenbard, Mrs. Herbert Hill, Mrs. Roy Kidder and one guest, Miss Claudine Carcausa.

Women prominent in the senior Ebell society who have attended various sessions as delegates or as onlookers, have included the president, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Loyall K. King, Mrs. Enrys D. White, Mrs. J. M. Cloyes, Mrs. A. J. Lasby, Mrs. G. R. Tuthill, Mrs. F. P. Mead, Mrs. C. V. Davis and others.

Santa Ana Woman's club also has been well-represented, and yesterday, in addition to other convention activities, several of the members took part in a special luncheon served in the Ambassador Tea room.

A pleasant feature of this affair was the fact that the Santa Ana Woman's club president, Mrs. J. D. Watkins, greeted as guests, several from the Porterville Woman's club, where she was a former member, serving on the board of directors among other official capacities.

These luncheon guests included Mrs. M. C. Mapes, present president, and Mrs. John Carter, president-elect of the Porterville club, as well as Miss Flora Allen of Cleveland, Ohio; Mesdames B. C. Ogden of New York City; Mesdames D. Watkins, William Whitehead, C. C. Okes, William Kuhn, J. H. Northrup, A. J. Knight, Marie Stanley, William West, William Wells and Frank E. of Santa Ana Woman's club.

Convention matters were discussed and an interesting musical program given, including the singing of the "Santa Ana Woman's Club" song composed by Mrs. Watkins, and presented by the club chorus under the direction of Mrs. Eyerly.

After a short business meeting, the birthday refreshments were served. These included root beer, ice cream and a large white birthday cake. This had been made by his sister, Miss Loraine Wheeler.

Those sharing the occasion with the honored guest, Ralph Wheeler, were Robert Horsemann, Leslie Damewood, Lester Carden, Leloy Hamilton, and a group of special guests, the Misses Evelyn Schubert, Mary Alice Russick, Lorraine Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Rush T. Lewis of Long Beach.

W. H. Spurgeon Jr., president of the Community Players, tentatively supplanted Mrs. Robert Wade as presiding officer, introducing Frank Lansdown, who reported favorably on the financial, social and theatrical phases of the recent one-act play tournament.

After the program, sandwiches, brought by the players, were served with coffee prepared by Mrs. Burr Shafer.

Ralph Wheeler's birthday anniversary was the occasion for a merry surprise party given recently when members of the Boy Scout patrol of which he is the leader joined in honoring him.

The boys gave the party in a Scout cabin which just has been completed to the rear of the Wheeler home, 1028 West First street. This will be the special headquarters for the boys, who decided to call their patrol, "The Blind Eagle."

'SPIRIT OF WEST' AT WALKER STATE

Hooper Atchley and Al Bridge who make an excellent pair of "bad men."

MIDWAY CITY

A new idea of a western, "The Spirit of the West," opens today at Walker's State theater, where it will close tomorrow night. Hoot Gibson, assisted by Doris Hill, is revealed in a real thrill drama. Hoot finds himself in one of the most perplexing situations that could ever face a hero.

It would spoil the story to tell just what it is, but you may take our word for it, the author, Jack Natusford, doesn't ask Hoot to go through the old-fashioned scenes of winning hands down by holding an entire army of books at bay!

The cast is convincing and special mention should be given

"GAY CABALLERO" AT FOX WEST COAST

El Coyote—mysterious rider of the night—swings in and out of the plot of "The Gay Caballero" with all the daring of the romantic knights of history, yet the scene of the stirring Fox action drama is Arizona and the time is the present day.

Who is El Coyote? This is the question on the tip of every character in the picture opening today at the Fox West Coast theater.

The mystery of El Coyote's identity remains unsolved throughout the telling of the story, although suspicion points at one time or another to practically every male member of the powerful cast. These include O'Brien and Victor McLaglen, who are featured; Henry Gordon, Weldon Heilburn and William Robertson.

Conchita Montenegro and Linda Watkins, both of whom were named Fox Debutante Stars at the start of the current season, have the feminine leads. Conchita is a fiery daughter of Spain and Miss Watkins as an American.

L. Scott, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Sam Lazich and daughters, Wyleen and Betty Jane.

June Kinder, of Anaheim, was a guest of Dorothy Poetzke Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Poole and children, Melvin and Milton, of Pasadena, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Callaway Sunday.

Mrs. E. H. Baumann attended a pot luck luncheon in the home of Mrs. Leo Millings at Laguna Beach Tuesday.

Pink or Red, It's All Salmon

Here is a fact about salmon values which is new to me and may help you. A food laboratory was asked to test the choice red salmon and the pink variety—and strangely enough, the pink salmon was equal to the red variety in every way but color.

How very different when you come to buy it! The packers must grade it on the theory that whatever the eyes see, the stomach longs for—and the grocer follows suit. For made dishes, such as the recipe for today in which salmon may be substituted for ham, the pink salmon is every bit as good. The same holds true for salads, sandwich fillings and fish loaves.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Spanish Ham
2 cups boiled chopped ham
1 cup cooked rice
1 chopped onion
1 chopped green pepper
1 stalk of celery
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 small can of tomatoes
1-2 cup of buttered breadcrumbs
Few grains of chili powder

Ham is designated for this recipe where a ham has been boiled and there are odds and ends left to use up for dinner.

Any other meat can be used, even to a hurry-up dish in which hamburger plays it part.

Of course, it would need to be freshly cooked and stirred with a fork while cooking to keep it loose. But let's get on with the ham—

The onion, green pepper and celery may be run through the coarse knife of the food chopper, likewise the ham. Mix all the ingredients with the cup of cooked rice and let stand while we are doing things with the tomatoes.

Open the can of tomatoes, empty and strain through a sieve. If the pulp is chunky, chop it up and add to the liquid. Set to heat and thicken with the flour blended with the melted butter.

Season to taste and mix with the other ingredients. The chili powder seasoning is optional, please take note.

Butter a casserole, put in the mixture, scatter buttered crumbs over the top and bake for one hour in a very moderate oven.

No other vegetables are necessary with this dish—just a good salad, and none is better for this occasion than an apple-nut-celery salad. You can name your own dresser.

This recipe will serve four adults. The calories total exactly 1200.

These calories are not distinguished for anything in particular, just good, every-day creatures that do their part and go on about their business.

Toasted sandwiches filled with thin broiled ham and fried egg are sum-shus food, but all the more so if you serve with them a tangy appetizing pickle sauce. In Apple Chutney you'll find this special sauce fit for a couple of queens, and you may have the recipe, as well as two for mushroom catsup and pepper relish, if you'll send me your stamped self-addressed envelope today and tomorrow, only.

Tomorrow the recipe will describe a "picture" salad for Sunday night supper. It is made of salmon and potatoes and is sufficiently hearty to serve as the main supper dish.

BROADWAY GETS VODVIL, NEW FILM SATURDAY

Charles Murray who will be seen with his old friend, George Sidney in "The Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," together with five big acts of vaudeville will be seen at the Fox Broadway theater Saturday only, succeeding the picture "Amateur Daddy" which closes its Santa Ana run tonight.

A bigger assortment of acts will be seen on the stage this week than at any time since vaudeville was returned to the theater with the Juanita Conners' girl band featuring the show. This act has played Santa Ana before and is well known up and down the coast.

Other acts include the Three Rounders, an acrobatic tumbling act; Fern Dale, female impersonator; George Yoman and Lizzie, in "The Radio Booths"; and the De-Horay Trio, late of the Fanchon and Marco comic features from the "Golden Idea."

Theater patrons do not have to be told much about the "Cohens and the Kellys," other than to say that in their wanderings about the country they have finally landed in Hollywood where they find more amusement and excitement than ever before.

George Sidney and Charles Murray are again seen in their popular parts.

Refreshments of jello with whipped cream and cake were served. The cake was a gift of Mrs. Ted Silver. Those present were Eleanor Davis, Fern Morgan, Mary Taylor, Anita and Marian Force, Lillian Mose, Dorothy Silver, Evelyn Roche, Virginia Mitchell and the leader, Miss Catherine Miller.

The next meeting will be held on May 18.

Buck Jones, favorite western star will be seen at the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow at 1 o'clock for the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse Club meeting. It was announced today.

The picture is "Border Law," and it gives Jones all the action he can stand from start to finish. A typical wild western drama that should please every boy and girl in Santa Ana, the meeting of the club tomorrow is expected to be one of the largest of the year.

The usual Mickey Mouse stage features also will be had.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here's why ALL-BRAN belongs on your table much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Moreover, ALL-BRAN furnishes iron for the blood. Tests prove that this famous health-cereal provides twice as much assimilable iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Isn't it much pleasanter to enjoy this appetizing cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful and habit-forming?

Try two tablespoonfuls daily—usually sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If you suffer from a severe intestinal trouble, we suggest you consult your physician.

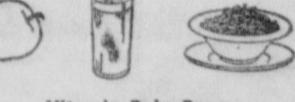

Special cooking and flavoring processes make ALL-BRAN particularly healthful. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Here are some of the results of recent laboratory investigations of bran

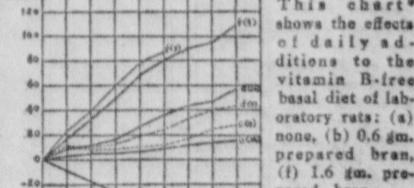

The Bulk in Bran

Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. It may be eaten by most persons who can eat these vegetables.

Vitamin B in Bran

One ounce of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains 45 vitamin B units, as much as that in one very large apple or 5 ounces of orange juice.

Iron in Bran

Tests show bran provides twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Strawberry Jam MADE IN 12 MINUTES

PUT ON TO BOIL

10:00 IN THE GLASSES

BY Mrs. C. B. Osborne.
CHAMPION IOWA JELLY MAKER

"In the last 5 years my jams and jellies have won 83 prizes at the Iowa State Fair. And the Certo short-boil jelly making method deserves most of the credit.

"Certo, first of all, reduces boiling time to one minute for crushed strawberry jam, for instance. And this fact explains both the speed and economy of the Certo method of making jam or jelly, as well as the quality of the product that results.

"For with only 1 minute's hard boiling needed, 12 minutes is ample time to make a full batch of prize-winning jam or jelly. And since no fruit juice has time to boil away, I often save as much as 2½¢ per glass over jam or jelly made the old long boil way.

"And my Certo-made jam tastes better, too . . . simply because the short boil keeps the ripe, delicate flavor of the fruit itself from boiling away in wasteful steam."

Why don't you do as Mrs. Osborne suggests and order a supply of Certo today—with your strawberries? You will be delighted at the time and money it will save you. And the extra flavor it will give your jams and jellies, too . . . if you will follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle. Get your bottle from your grocer's today. It is a product of General Foods Corporation.

STRAWBERRIES ARE TEMPTING

Housewives will be glad to learn that one of the most wonderful strawberry crops in recent years is crowding the local markets. Jelly makers in particular will see in these berries the opportunity to start stocking their jam and jelly cupboards for the winter months that lie ahead.

And this year we have really unusual berries. Red, luscious, sweet, large. And because the supply is so tremendous, prices have naturally been reduced to the lowest levels in several seasons. In these hard times jam and jelly offers an easy way to save money. There are very few spreads that can be made quite so economically. Here are three tested recipes that the housewife will want to use. You will notice that all of them call for the modern, short-boil method. This method is suggested because it offers the most economical way to make jelly—since it increases the number of glasses that can be secured from a given amount of fruit.

Spiced Strawberries

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
6 1-2 cup (5 1-4 lbs.) sugar
1-2 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, allspice

1-2 bottle (1-2 cup) fruit pectin

Use fully ripe berries. To prepare fruit, cut small or medium berries in halves lengthwise; large berries in quarters.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skin by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 10 eight-oz. glasses.

PHILA. LABORATORY CERTIFIES NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits Pronounced Very Rich in Food Value

One of the reasons for the popularity of the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits is the food value of this tasty ready-to-eat cereal. The improved Kellogg's biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that bakes in delicious flavor and retains all the food elements of the whole wheat. As a result, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia, after careful analysis, now certifies every package for food value.

The new Kellogg's biscuit also offers several other distinct improvements. The biscuits are a more convenient, economical size. Two fit in the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

And every biscuit is toasted a golden, rich brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. This makes it crispier and tastier than ever before. Also, "pressure-cooking" and "double toasting" make Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits easier to digest.

The new Kellogg's biscuit is delicious with milk or cream; extra appetizing with the addition of fruits or honey. Local grocers are featuring this improved ready-to-eat cereal. It may be identified by the name, Kellogg's, and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SLASH OAKLAND PAYROLL: OTHER CUTS IMMINENT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—(UPI)—The Pacific Coast league pennant race was overshadowed today by the breathless efforts of several owners to outrun the sheriff, as revealed in Oakland's flat demand that players accept a 25 per cent cut—or else.

At Sacramento, Oak players were summoned into conference after they had lost to the Senators, 2 to 0, and handed the bad news by President Bob Miller and Vice President Vic Devencenzo.

"We lost $15,000 last month and things don't look any too bright in the future," Miller said. "If the players won't take the cut, we'll have to waive most of them and finish the season with youngsters."

The players discussed the matter, decided tentatively that the cut was too "heavy," planned to meet again today.

Miller said if the cut were accepted he will start a general move to increase attendance at games by reducing admissions in all league cities. Thus far San Francisco, home of the Seals and Missions, has been the only city to cut prices.

REASON FOR DISSENSION IN WASHINGTON

There is no disguising the fact that the contest in Washington, in the House and in the Senate, and including the Chief Executive, over the question of balancing the budget, cutting down expenses, and increasing the tax levy, is due to a difference of viewpoint of the various people engaged in the effort.

There is nothing gained by charging any man or men with being unpatriotic, with being fools or knaves, simply because they may differ in their program from what we would like to have it.

If the various measures to restore prosperity had resulted as we had hoped, and been led to expect, as they have been passed from time to time, there would be little question about the united action which would come in other things.

But we might as well acknowledge that that has not been true. We were urged to believe that as soon as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation began its operations, the strengthening of the banks, the restoration of their confidence would be felt all the way down the line; that money would be easier to borrow, and with that confidence among the millions of people, we would begin a step at least toward prosperity. But as a matter of fact, while the banks for the most part are freed from worry and concern, it has gone little farther than the banks. The banks are not extending credit to any except in such amounts as they are sure can be met out of income within a brief period, or to renew amounts already borrowed.

The same is true of the amendment to the Federal Reserve Act, the Glass-Steagall measure. This, on the face of it, would appear to be quite a valuable help to the restoration of better business. But while it has enlarged the powers of the Federal Reserve in making eligible for discount certain paper which was heretofore not so available, in practical application it has aided very little. For that particular kind of commercial paper is not much in evidence, and will not be until business picks up for some other reason.

An election is coming on. And a great deal must be discounted as Congress and the President are hurling denunciations and accusations one at the other. The lower house of Congress is Democratic, and too many of the Congressmen are sparring for positions. On the other hand, President Hoover desires vindication and renomination and election. And there is too great a temptation to make general charges against the lower house when he knows that it costs nothing to make them, and tends to stir up discontent and opposition.

The accusation by the President that Congress is destroying public confidence is unworthy of the Chief Executive at this hour. Public confidence is seriously undermined. But it has not been undermined by Congress. It has been undermined by a series of revelations of the crooked, rascally, criminal things that have been carried on by high financiers, connived at, if not helped in, by Federal officials.

The people have lost faith in leadership and suggestions that come from those sources. And well they may. Unfortunately, no one in Congress has arisen with sufficient commanding power to point the way out. But that they are honestly trying to find that way out, and that they refuse to be longer led by the powers of Wall street that got them into this mess, certainly is no ground to charge them with wrong doing.

PAUL DOUMER

The dispatches have just brought the information that Paul Doumer, president of the French Republic, was shot by an assassin. At this writing the news is that he is in a critical condition, but has not passed away.

The life of Paul Doumer reads much like the life of one of the presidents of the United States—may we suggest like Garfield or Grant. He is an illustration of what democracy can accomplish in a republic, where every opportunity is afforded the play of personality, and work, and where its reward is granted to men.

His political rise was natural and steady, having been a senator, a colonial minister and president of the Chamber of Deputies. Briand has been a much better known man to the people of this country, and in fact, it was Doumer's defeat of Briand that brought Doumer's name before the people of this country in a greater way.

He was an author of note. It is to be hoped that the expected will not occur, but that he may be restored from this wound. He is a little past 75 years of age, having been born on March 22, 1857.

While a Russian shot him, there seems to be no political significance to it, as the dispatches declare the assassin was probably insane. In Paris, as a cosmopolitan city, there is not as likely to be false and foolish charges made from the doings of an insane man as there would be in some quarters.

Now they're saying that freedom for the Philippines would destroy the "balance" of power in the Far East. Let's see, didn't we have a "perfect balance" of power in Europe in 1914?

BARGAINING WITH THE MAJESTY OF THE LAW

The sentences of those who were convicted of manslaughter in Honolulu have been commuted by the governor, and there is great effort being made to change the commutation to a full pardon. The object of this is to remove the men, and particularly Massie, from under the conditions which are imposed by his being adjudged a felon. Strictly, he cannot continue in the navy. This would remove such a taint, and restore the four to citizenship, which they have lost.

It also appears that as a part of the program, the charge against the other four people, now waiting trial for participation in the crime of assault, will be quashed. In other words, it is rather agreed that both sides go free and nothing further shall be done about it.

It has been pointed out that with this commutation by the governor, or pardon by him, it is very unlikely that any jury could be found that would convict these men, on account of the feeling running high in the islands. Regardless of what one's opinion may be of the commutation by the governor, certainly the quashing of the indictment against these other men does not tend to protect the honor of women or to uphold the law in its majesty.

If there has been a practical agreement that one shall be freed, and the other shall be freed, and it smacks of a bargain, we do not see how law in any case is vindicated or society is protected. If the operation of the law and its enforcement should grind on relentlessly and convict and punish these men, if they were guilty of participating in this assault, it would be of tremendous value in the protection of innocent people, and establishing a high regard for law in the minds of the people. Surely any arrangement whereby those who are guilty of such a crime can be freed, is not an arrangement of which the people can approve.

The only just and honest basis for a commutation of sentence would be on a hypothesis that could only result in the more certain punishment of those who participated in the original crime that was committed.

What we've been wondering is this: If the college hatless styles become universal, what will the politicians talk through?

GASTON MEANS "CASHES IN"

To think of Gaston Means "cashing in" to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars on the Lindbergh baby kidnapping! It makes one mad enough to "bite a nail in two," as the saying goes.

Yet it goes to the very root of the illness of society today. People put trust in men and women who, although they are out of jail, have not a clean record of conduct. When men lie, and steal, and kill, and deceive, and by trickery and brazen and ruthless chicanery wrong their fellows, they should be beyond the possibility of association with and holding the trust of their fellow men. It is a hard attitude. But there is much to be said for an aristocracy which would refuse to have anything to do with a man or woman who was ever under suspicion of anti-social conduct. At least he should have a long period of probation before he is free from suspicion.

The accusation by the President that Congress is destroying public confidence is unworthy of the Chief Executive at this hour. Public confidence is seriously undermined. But it has not been undermined by Congress. It has been undermined by a series of revelations of the crooked, rascally, criminal things that have been carried on by high financiers, connived at, if not helped in, by Federal officials.

The people have lost faith in leadership and suggestions that come from those sources. And well they may. Unfortunately, no one in Congress has arisen with sufficient commanding power to point the way out. But that they are honestly trying to find that way out, and that they refuse to be longer led by the powers of Wall street that got them into this mess, certainly is no ground to charge them with wrong doing.

Capone Loses Appeal

Oakland Tribune

Al Capone must serve his time for evading income taxes. There seems to be no question of the fact he did evade the taxes. The eleven-year sentence has been upheld and the saucy gangster who has been taking beauty treatments while he is in jail is denied the hope that he may soon resume his "big business" operations in Chicago.

Strange enough, few persons think of Capone in connection with income taxes. He is pictured as the head of an underworld organization which controls the sale of beer in Chicago and operates many resorts which bring in an income of many millions a year.

In popular discussions Capone has been linked with more crimes than the number in which one man could be possibly implicated. He has become a myth standing for leadership in all that is evil. There is no questioning the fact he is a dangerous character, a leader of gangs defying the law, and that punishment for evading the income taxes was a compromise necessary to see that he received some punishment from society. In prison he may still exert power, but the fact that he is to stay there for eleven years is an assurance he will not flaunt that power in the face of society. The nation might be better off if it forgets Al Capone for a while and turns its attention to apprehending those men who have stepped into his place to carry on the racketeering work while he is "temporarily absent."

WHEN INDUSTRY PLANS ITSELF

Even if we were wise enough and willing to revise our antiquated anti-trust laws so that the various fields of industrial enterprise could come together for coherent planning, two things would be vital to the success of such planning:

(1) Business leadership would have to broaden its outlook beyond the outlook that has been all too often displayed when the leaders in business fields have acted in concert on general economic policy.

(2) Political leadership would have to rethink and recast the whole philosophy and procedure of social control of concentrated power, and would have to devise methods of control of those factors, such as credit, over which such associations of producers would have no direct control.

Summer H. Slichter of Harvard has clearly indicated points at which business leadership would have to broaden its outlook if planning through industrial groups is to be expected to mitigate rather than aggravate periods of economic depression.

"When prices generally show a tendency to drop," he says, "such associations usually urge their members to maintain the old prices."

If this advice is followed, four unhappy results are realized. They are:

(1) Output is restricted.

(2) Unemployment in the industry is increased.

(3) Surpluses of unsold goods are often created.

(4) The price of the commodity is forced down by these surpluses.

The actual effect of this policy of preserving the old prices is, Mr. Slichter points out, "to delay necessary price adjustments and thus to prolong and aggravate the slump in business."

And, again, Mr. Slichter draws attention to the fact that, unless business leadership pursued a more enlightened price policy, such planning associations might intensify rather than solve the problem of "sick" industries.

By checking aggressive price cutting, these organizations would prolong the life of high-cost enterprises and, at the same time, attract more capital into the industry. Over-development of industries can be prevented only by controlling the flow of capital into them . . . he soundly observes.

All of which means, not that we should turn our backs upon planning by business itself, but that we should buckle down to the job of broadening our business outlook.

LET ME ALONE

ought to have Sam do my hair instead of trying to do it myself. Don't rub your nose with your knuckle that way. If your nose itches use your handkerchief. It won't itch if you relax. You hold your shoulders too stiffly anyway."

"All right, Ma. Now suppose I begin and tell you what's the matter with you? You say you don't pick on me? How many things have you found wrong with me in three minutes? Count them. I'm almost seventeen, a high school senior and you count the cookies I eat, you watch the way I sit, you even tell me to blow my nose."

"I did nothing of the sort. You know very well I didn't. I'm only trying to help you and you call it picking on me. You'll never say another word to you again. I still let you go on being a greedy, careless, saucy—"

"There you go, Ma, you're all right. The only fault I have to find with you, if it is a fault, is that you want to make me over in your image and likeness and that wasn't the way I was built. Now if I make Mrs. Doolittle let you alone will you swear off on me? That's what I want to know."

"I do let you alone. You'd better go right off now and start your homework so as to have most of it out of the way before dinner. Then you can finish up early and get to bed on time. You ought to sleep more. Did you eat your prunes this morning? I wasn't sure. Don't laugh at me. I AM letting you alone."

"Well, she thought she was, and that's something."

More Truth Than Poetry

UNJUST DISCRIMINATION

The prima donnas of the stage Wear fur and silken coats, And they are paid golden wage For all their silver notes. They easily can sate their thirst For world resounding fame; Moreover they are always first In popular acclaim.

A fleeting season do they sing And then they seek the peace Beneath the mountain peaks that ring The shore of Cannes and Nice. They're given eager homage there Wherever they may stay, And—would you credit it?—they wear New raiment every day.

The prima donnas of the trees, A busy throng, Can rarely take their ease; Their work is hard and long. The cats are a continual threat, The hawks about them press, And never in their lives they get A single change of dress.

And yet through all the vernal days, Until the fall of night, Their eager voices do they raise In carols of delight.

And when in yonder distant wood I've heard their serenade At fall of dusk, I've thought they should Be vastly better paid.

STILL ANOTHER BLOW And now we have an overproduction of politicks!

TOO EASY We'd think more of the World Court if it would convict a few defendants now and then.

GUESS! We wonder what would be going on if we owed the money to Europe that Europe owes to us.

PARAGRAPHS

The law forbidding anybody to take money out of Germany seems to settle the reparations problem.

So a tax on stock transfers might close the exchange. Well, well; there must be some good in taxes, after all.

It might be worse. Suppose somebody had offered those big bankers a commission for the national capitol.

But the veterans could get two billion without injuring the nation if they owed that much to big financiers.

An idealistic land is one where everybody feels suspicious if you offer to do good without charging anything.

MANY MIDDLE-CLASS FAMILIES ARE NOW FORCED TO DO WITHOUT NECESSITIES THAT THEIR GRANDFATHERS NEVER HEARD OF.

A Canadian dollar isn't worth as much as an American dollar, so America loses all of Canada's business. Isn't finance wonderful!

You can tell the man who owes money. When he curses bankers, he prefixes the word "international."

People who called some of them Presidential possibilities have too much faith in the careless saying that anything is possible.

AMERICANISM: Howling because Government wastes our tax money; wasting five times as much by our own carelessness.

As we understand Mr. Whitney, if there were no short sellers to preserve the market, there would be no market for short sellers.

Jumping from a plane won't cure stuttering. The way to make a man talk without stuttering is to get him up there and ask him if he wants to jump.

Taxing safely deposit boxes won't help much. A much better way would be to tax what's in them.
